Mechanical Groups: Unsung Heroes Of the Company's HDS Unit Startup

In any large project, be it in a group or organization, a town or large city, in a specific country or on an entire continent, the world and nowadays, even in space, man's attention is focused mainly on the end results. The people involved in its completion and operation are the ones who invariably get more publicity.

This is the case, for instance, with the space heroes who, along with those directly involved with the lunar missions, are constantly in the spotlight, while a group of "silent" men do important jobs behind the scenes and remain relatively unknown. This happens everywhere, and at Lago, this has been no exception.

Scholarship renewal grants in Holland went to: John R. de Cuba (mathematics), Beatriz Donata (social work), Glenda M. Wulfers-Eman (psychology), Michael G. L. B. Fowler (tropical agronomy), Madelien Tromp (medical analyst), Kenneth Wijdh

(business administration), and Ewald R. Zandwijken (electronics).

Since 1957, the Lago Scholarship Foundation has been helping deserving students obtain a college degree abroad. To qualify, a student must have an HBS-A or B diploma and have excellent grades, or be an outstanding UTS student. In addition, the student should score high on the tests given at Lago.

Therefore, in this issue, prior to the inauguration of the HDS Complex on August 20, Lago acknowledges the work of the Mechanical men who were also instrumental in the successful startup of the various units of the HDS facilities. They are Rotating Equipment men, Electricians, Instrumentmen, Metal Tradesmen, Building & Services groups, Cleanoutmen, and an office group which handled the administrative aspects of the operation. The mechanical men were involved in the final check-out and startup of the HDS Complex.

Presently they are engaged in modifications, general maintenance work, housekeeping and
